

UZIN WK 222

The FIRST solvent free Neoprene contact adhesive in the world.

Monday 5th December, 2011.
UZIN WK 222 - REVIEW

UZIN WK222 Water Based Neoprene Contact Adhesive: is one of the best products in the industry since I first started on the job. That was over thirty-five (35) years ago.

Until this water based contact adhesive product was made available, we had to work with highly flammable and extremely toxic glues.

Many of which have been banned in most other countries like Europe and the USA.

It has no fumes so installers can carry on their work a lot easier, NO COMPLAINTS FROM CO-WORKERS.

If you have been used to working with other products the change over is easy and well worth it.

For me to go back to spirit based contact adhesives would be false economy and putting my health and that of the environment at risk.

I have been working with UZIN products for about ten (10) years and have found them to be the best products on the market.

UZIN understands the industry's needs and that of the professional installer.

I recommend their products generally and, this water based contact adhesive specifically to anyone in the flooring industry.

(Professional Flooring Contractor).

Just how good is it?

These two professionals have tried it and consider WK 222 to be superior to all current contact adhesives.

“As part of a continuous improvement programme we were looking for a vinyl adhesive to replace the current solvent based product. We found that replacement product in Spectrum Floors “WK222” which satisfied our 3 requirements – reduced environmental impact, set an improved OHS baseline during application and ease of application without sacrificing in-service performance”.

Chris S Marshall
Senior Manufacturing Engineer
Product Development & Innovation